DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-7, drawn to a method for producing rubber.

Group II, claim 8, drawn to a rubber composition.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Groups I and II share a common technical feature, namely, that of using a pulse combustion dryer to dry the latex material. However, this element is not a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because this element does not define a contribution over the prior art as evidenced by Ozer et al. (US Pat. 5,252,061). Specifically, Ozer et al. teaches that a pulse combustion dryer can be used to dry different polymers such as acrylic-latexes (see Col. 7, Line 42). Moreover, Ozer et al. teaches that material introduced into the system will be atomized by hot gas pulses (see Col. 1, Lines 40-46). This atomization causes rapid drying of the material and allows for it to be collected as a fine, dry powder (see Col. 1, Lines 40-46). Additionally, it was well-known in the art at the time of the invention that rubber latexes and acrylic latexes are equivalents.

A telephone call was made to David T. Nikaido on May 15, 2007 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
